ST. ALDHELM'S RECTOR TENDERS RESIGNATION

The Rev. D. F. Kemp, for the past four years rector of St. Aldhelm's church here, tendered his resignation last Sunday evening, to take effect May 31. Mr. Kemp first had charge of this parish in 1925, leaving in the fall of that year to complete his studies in the University of Manitoba. Graduating in the spring of 1927 he returned to Vulcan and now leaves to become rector of St. Peter's, Okotoks.

The congregation here will regret Mr. Kemp's departure and wish him every happiness in his new sphere of activity.

To succeed Mr. Kemp the Rev. Victor Smith, at present incumbent of Rocky Mountain House, has been appointed. Mr. Smith graduated from the university of Saskatchewan in 1928 and Vulcan is therefore only his second appointment. He will bring to his work here conspicuous musical ability which should be of great value in both Vulcan and the Carmangay mission.

CHAMPION PIONEER PASSES

Another pioneer of the district, Mrs. Malvina Galloway, has been removed by death after a short illness. Deceased was born in Laurence County, Missouri, in 1848, and came to Champion in 1912. They homesteaded northeast of Champion and during their long residence made many friends. Left to mourn her loss are four sons, Melvin of Lomond, Frank of Vulcan, C.W. and F. W. of Champion, and one daughter, Mrs. Grace Stone, also of Champion. The funeral took place in the Carmangay cemetery and service was conducted by Rev. Peter Dawson in the community hall on Wednesday.

With the pleasant spring weather seeding operations on the farms of this district are in full swing, many farmers having already completed the operation. The land at the present time is very dry and in dire need of moisture, this condition being caused by the light snows of the past winter and the high winds of the past few weeks. However, everybody is optimistic and all are looking forward to the needed moisture at the present time; with a splendid crop and good prices this fall they expect to kill the present depression.

Posters were issued from the Advocate job printing department on Monday, announcing a May Day dance to be held under the auspices of the Samaritan Lodge I.O.O.F. in their hall in Vulcan on Friday evening, May 1st. The music will be supplied by Joe Tomte and His Orchestra who need no introduction to our readers as to the snappy dance numbers they render. Patrons to this May Day dance need not worry about having a good time with D. D. Allan as floor manager.

MRS. E. M. HILL WINS FIRST PRIZE ADVOCATE CIRCULATION CAMPAIGN

Miss Gertrude Roebuck and Mrs. Lily Jacobson Turn in Fine List of Subscriptions and Win Second and Third Prizes

The Advocate's big circulation campaign came to a conclusion at four o'clock Saturday afternoon when the judges announced the list of winners headed by Mrs. E. M. Hill as winner of the grand prize of a Chevrolet sedan.

Immediately on the closing hour the judges, Messrs. L. A. Wright, L. H. Stack, H. S. Sutherland and Joe Dobbs Jr., opened the ballot box and tallied the final results which are printed on this page.

The announcement and the distribution of the prizes brought to a most pleasing conclusion a successful campaign, perhaps the greatest feature of which was that everyone connected with it in any way has been completely satisfied. While everyone could not be winner of the first prize there was not a poor loser, and the winners of the lesser prizes declared themselves as thoroughly gratified with the results. It had been a strenuous period during which each contestant had done their very best, and it speaks most highly of all of them that each one made a host of new friends throughout the district through their efforts in this campaign.

MISS G. ROEBUCK
Second Prize

MRS. E. M. HILL
First Prize

Apart entirely from the monetary results, the objective of The Advocate was attained.

The campaign throughout was handled by Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Baker of the Liner Circulation Service, who were chosen by The Advocate for their long experience in this work. That this selection was well advised, was amply demonstrated by their careful and impartial handling of the entire campaign, with absolutely fair dealing to everyone concerned. Incidentally, Mr. and Mrs. Baker, through their business management and their pleasant personality, made many new friends in Vulcan during the course of their work.

The Advocate desires to thank the judges for their service, and the Canadian Bank of Commerce, through Mr. Wright, for the use of their premises.

SEASON'S FIRST GAME BASEBALL AT BLACKIE

The first ball game of the season for the Vulcan team was played in Blackie on April 26th with Blackie coming out on the long end of the score by a 7-3 count. The game was more in the nature of a practice than of a test of the strength of either team, as it was arranged at very short notice and the Vulcan team had not yet held a practice on their local diamond. Nevertheless it was very interesting for the fair crowd that turned out and in spite of lack of early season practice, some very exciting plays were witnessed. The main feature of the game being the stellar pitching of Bogastie, Blackie's newly imported hurler. He being the big stumbling block for Vulcan's batters.

Ben Messenger pitched a fairly steady game for Vulcan with Bill Reecore's catching being the shining light of Vulcan's play. Bob Marshall made two pretty catches in centre field and Ray Flynn some snappy throwing from third base to first. In the first inning, Murray got to first on a catcher's error and was brought in by Flynn who got the only hit off Bogastie.

In the sixth inning, Stickney scored on Murray's single and Murray came in on an overthrow to first base on Messenger's sacrifice. This finished the scoring for Vulcan.

Blackie scored five runs in the first inning, when the local boys were trying to get settled down to business, and only scored two more runs in the remainder of the game.

Vulcan—Reecore, c; Messenger, p; Stickney, 1st; Murray, 2nd; Ferguson, ss; Flynn, 3rd; Pritchard, rf; Marshall, cf; Ganton, lf.

Blackie—Pat Steir, c; Bogastie and Hart, p; M. Steir, 1st; Addeman, 2nd; Mollenberg, ss; Evans, 3rd; J. Steir, rf; Souter, cf; Wellman, lf.

A ROYAL GESTURE

The abdication of Alfonso of Spain has a quality which commands the admiration of everyone. Reluctant as the moderns may be to bow to the imperious demands of royalty, there is something worthy of a king in Alfonso's departure. It revives in us the fast dying belief in the "kingly" qualities of kings. There is something brave and noble and altogether lonely in the manner of Alfonso's going.

He might have refused to abdicate. A few years ago he would have been considered right to have started a civil war in defense of his throne. But philosophically he accepted the inevitable, asking only time to settle up his affairs.

The most modern and democratic individual cannot but admire a monarch and a queen who could relinquish their royal estate in such a fashion.

In olden days Kings were enveloped in a tradition of nobility. They were regarded as possessing God-given quality and God-given authority.

No doubt their own misuse of authority through the centuries has accounted for their downfall. Royalty is not in the ascendancy. Emperors and Kings are departing and a King is venerated and beloved only as he measures up as a man.

Republics, democracy, co-operation, an impatience with selfish pomp and circumstance now hold sway. Perhaps in this modern outlook there is a fairer conception of the rights of humanity at large. Perhaps there is more universal kindness.

But the abdication of King Alfonso presents an arresting picture of the passing of the last of the Bourbons, and brings people to a realization that there were some fine and noble qualities which were deservedly called "Kingly."

HERALD'S HOME CITY

There is no more powerful factor in the development of the city of Calgary, than the Calgary Herald. It staunchly encourages every forward movement, every solid enterprise and by its high standard of news and comment gives splendid publicity service to the West.

Last Thursday, April 16, the Herald added another to its long list of special issues. This issue contains an encouraging summary of recent and early development of Calgary. It stimulates the conviction that the southern hub of Alberta is on solid foundation and forging ahead to greater accomplishment.

The history of achievements which have gone to the making of the city are recorded year by year since 1875. The present industrial plants are described, and a splendid history given of the Turner Valley industry. Agriculture and agricultural products of the district have also been summarized, and the whole issue contains a vast fund of information attractively compiled. Included are cuts of over 200 leading business men of Calgary, who are helping to build a greater Calgary.

STILL CHANCES

Adolph Lewisohn, that eminent American citizen who arrived in United States as an immigrant sixty-two years ago, has been asked whether there are opportunities for advancement in these modern days, comparable with those which presented themselves a half century ago.

He says that from time to time, there are as good chances now as in former times.

"In my opinion there are three things necessary to accomplish anything, and the last of these three things is the most essential—firstly you must want to do a thing; secondly, you must be able to do that thing and thirdly you must do it. The first two are very interesting but do not mean a thing without the third.

For instance, you may see all sort of possibilities in the purchase of a pretty home. You may want to buy it. You may be able to buy it. But if you do not do that third thing—buy it—what does the rest matter? Nothing has happened, and you lose all the benefit that might have resulted because you did not take action.

To make a success in life, it is of course important to work hard. It is especially important that younger people be constantly watchful and attentive to the work in which they expect to make a success; to be energetic and courageous, but at the same time to be careful not to overdo it and not to take too great chances. A certain amount of courage is also essential.

TREES

Some unknown writer has expressed the following thought on trees, which follows a response in all hearts.

"A tree knows not alone the rapture of the sun and summer rain, the birth of leaves and glory of their death; but too, it knows the torture of thirst and the distress of storm and many a cry of pain it hears from little feathered folk or scurrying furry forms. Wise with the wisdom of years, it drinks of deep delight and defies with pride the challenge of evil. Under my sheltering arms the birds nest, and flowers bloom, and weary men rest and children play. Beneath it all are everlasting arms that shelter you and me."

Alone with a tree I always feel that could I but listen aright, it would willingly explain the never failing springs of happiness beside the bitter waters of evil.

AN ORIGINAL WILL:

"To my son, I leave the pleasure of earning a living. For thirty-five years he has thought that the pleasure was mine. He was mistaken.

"To my daughter, I leave $100,000. She will need it. The only good piece of business her husband ever did was to marry her.

"To my valet, I leave the clothes that he has been stealing from me regularly for the last ten years. All so my fur coat that he wore last winter, when I was in Palm Beach.

"To my chauffeur, I leave my cars. He almost ruined them, and I want him to have the satisfaction of finishing the job.

"To my partner, I leave the suggestion that he take some other clever man in with him at once if he expects to do any business."—Wall St. Journal.

L. H. Newman, Dominion Cerealists, states that one of the most extensive potential wheat growing areas of Canada is far to the north in the great Peace River country, with an output that has increased enormously in the past ten years.

NOTES and COMMENTS

(By H. C.)

If you think that people are one hand up, please note that women's summer coats have fur collars as usual.

Now, would you think that, recognizing the need for economy, Dame Fashion would allow our girls to drop summer furs, at least temporarily? But she won't. The imperious, obstinate, extravagant wench simply won't. Sometimes we suspect her of being in a racket of her own.

Prominent Democrats as well as Republicans don't want the prohibition issue to have any place in their platforms. Even their election promises to be speak-easies.

The yu-yo is a simple little toy, but see how it has relieved unemployment.

The fact that the new mayor started out in life as a mule-driver in a mine should not be lost on the denizens of the Chicago underworld.

The Republicans of Spain seem to have won the game by discarding the King and Queen and playing the deuce.

Among the things that literary precisions object to is the expression "Enter in." The "in" is redundancy. So it is; but it would cost a lot of money to revise the Bible.

There has been an enormous decrease in exports from the United States during the past year, but a wall high enough to keep everything out is almost sure to be high enough to keep everything in.

F. Scott McBride, the secretary of the anti-saloon league, speaks of an opponent as being paid by the other side. Now, why shouldn't he do as adversaries do in law, strive mightily but never cash up to the other fellow that he is being paid for his work?

"The good old law, the simple plan: That he shall take who has the power And he shall keep who can."

Scott applied these lines to Rob Roy, but the McGregor was not Chancellor of the Exchequer (Finance Minister) nor was he the subject to income tax.

Sir George Paish is with us again, telling us what the trouble is and how to get out of it. He is advertised as "the man who predicted the depression." So he did, and he kept on predicting it for three years and then it came. Thousands of others made the same prediction, and lost heavily by selling short too soon. Sir George was one of the wise men who in 1914 said that financial limitations would confine the war to a few months. But an economist never loses his reputation as an economist by being wrong.

Someone once asked the late J. Pierpont Morgan "Do you think I could afford to have a yacht?" And the banker replied "No. Not if you have to ask the question." And that applied to other things besides yachts. When in doubt—don't.

Alfonso thought he was King by divine right. So did the late Kaiser; so did the late Czar. So did Charles I and James II. Monarchs who recognize constitutional limitations and the accident of birth fare better than those who fancy they have a divine right to rule.

The government of New South Wales pursued a course of reckless extravagance and then thought to get away from the national consequences by disowning its obligations.

WHO PAYS THAT INCOME TAX?

White Collar Boys Pay Bulk of Canada's Income Tax

A live topic at present is the income tax. Who pays it. Only 1.4 per cent of the population pays though many have to turn in statements.

The bulk of tax payers are salary men, white collar workers. These form 95,328 income tax payers. Next come retail merchants, 12,668 of them; next financial men, 10,555; the professions contribute 7,439 taxpayers. There are 3,642 tax-paying manufacturers; 2,737 farmers, 2,571 wholesalers.

But you will observe, the wealth is not divided amongst these classes in proportion to their numbers. The 3,642 manufacturers paying income tax, $20,149,360. The financial men though few in numbers pay $11,044,813. The salaried workers pay $8,336,415. Professional men, such as doctors, lawyers, teachers, clergymen, etc., contribute $1,716,674, and farmers turn in a mere $181,937.

The burden of the income tax falls as it should, on the wealthy. The heavy taxpayers are 603 persons whose income exceeds $50,000. They made up $17,531 each. The next class with incomes from thirty to fifty thousands make up 1,016 persons. There are 1,875 earning from twenty to thirty thousand, and so on down the line. There are 100,696 persons with income of $5,000 or nearly.

The next point is the provinces in which wealth is centered. No one in the Yukon makes more than $10,000 a year. The limit on Prince Edward Island is $25,000 a year, and only a handful are making this much.

Those who have incomes of $50,000 and over are pretty much settled in the East. There are 270 of these lucky fellows in Ontario; 251 in Quebec; 31 in Manitoba; 24 in B.C.; 14 in Alberta; 5 in Saskatchewan and 8 in the Maritimes. This shows that the Maritimes are losing wealth, Ontario and Quebec are piling it up, and the West is gaining slowly but steadily.—Toronto Star.

Reid Hill Community Hall

Reid Hill Community Hall is a substantial building, a result of the enterprise of the United Farm Organization, Women's Institute and other interested community builders. It has been a splendid, commodious centre for dramatic, social and sport activities and is a real boon to the community. Through the existence of this central meeting point, the Reid Hill badminton club enjoyed such sport this winter as probably no other badminton club in the country—or in the towns either—has indulged in.

The building is well arranged and the grounds offer opportunities for beautification which will materialize as time permits. It is a most creditable evidence of community co-operation.

ONLY HOPE IN CONFERENCE

Barring Unforeseen Calamities, Vital that Wheat Nations Unite

Robert Gardiner, president of the U.F.A. organization, in a message published in the farmers' magazine, expresses hope that the London grain conference will bring some definite result in stabilizing wheat. He says: "Apart from some catastrophe such as a world-wide crop failure or a war (irreparable calamity in itself) the forthcoming conference offers the only prospect of bringing to an end the cut throat competition in wheat at prices much below production cost. The most significant feature of the proposed conference is the attempt of the countries—Argentina, Australia, U.S., Canada and Russia—to co-operate on an international basis on a matter vitally concerning their welfare. A successful termination of the conference will probably involve international agreements between the countries concerned. Then we shall arrive at the crux of the problem insofar as individual wheat growers in Canada are concerned."

NOTES and COMMENT

Australia paid the interest in default and deducted the amount from the subsidy annually paid to that province, for they have the same system there as we have in Canada. All is now liquidated except the dishonorable intent.

The reaction to allied victory is allied dissensions. The Allies after the Leipzig were busy quarrelling when they had to unite to meet Napoleon again after his return from Elba. They quarrelled after Waterloo. Allies quarrelled after the late war and haven't composed their differences yet. In the meantime, the vanquished powers of Germany and Austria are forming a customs union. That is one important difference between success and defeat. There's more cement in the latter.

If Chicago had elected a Mayor who talked of "busting King George on the snoot" it would have been too bad for the World's Fair, so far as Britishers are concerned, and this consideration was present in the Chicago mind, when it rebelled against Thompson. The antics of the tail-twisting Mayor caused nothing but amusement among British people, but if such tactics had been endorsed by that city, that amusement would have turned into irritation and disgust which would have told acutely against Chicago at the gate.

CONCERNING A MILO LAND CASE

Carman and George Watt, of Milo Win Land Suit Against H. Deitz

A law suit of very considerable local interest was tried on Friday the 17th instant at Calgary by The Honourable Mr. Justice Ives in the Supreme Court. The action was brought by Carman and George Watt as plaintiffs against Henry Deitz, all of Milo, and concerned the ownership of a quarter section of land in the Milo district. In August of 1927 the plaintiffs negotiated with one A. B. Penn, formerly of Milo and now of Milner B.C., for the purchase of the land for $5000.00 cash. Through their brother F. L. Watt at High River, arrangements were made with the defendant to finance the purchase, title being taken in Deitz' name. There was no written agreement and there was some conflict of testimony as to exactly what arrangement was made. The defendant admitted that the plaintiffs had arranged for the purchase and that he had advanced the money and taken title to the land intending, as he put it, to resell the land to the plaintiffs at the same price with interest, but he claimed that the resale was never completed and that therefore the land was his. The plaintiffs claimed a definite parole understanding that the $5000.00 and interest was to be repaid by half crop payments. A large and profitable crop was produced in 1928, one-half of which netted the defendant over $4000.00 which the defendant claimed belonged to him as rent while the plaintiffs sought to have it applied on account of the alleged loan.

The court delivered judgment in favor of the plaintiffs with costs, declaring that they are the real owners of the land, the title being in the defendant as security only for the repayment of the $5000.00 and interest the plaintiffs being entitled to credit for the revenue from the 1928 crop. The plaintiffs were represented by Alec A. Ballachey, K.C., and F. L. Burnet. H. S. Patterson, K.C. and L. H. Stack, K.C., acted for the defendant.

TO KEEP ALIVE TO GIVE MILK

Dairy Cows Balance Their Foods for These Two Purposes

There are as many individuals in a dairy herd as there are in a home, and there should be kept an individual feed and milk record for each cow and sell off poor producers.

A cow needs food for two purposes to keep alive and to produce milk. Under normal conditions about half of the food is used for the maintenance of the body and the other half goes into the milk.

A cow that is fed too much will produce the same amount of milk that she would if she was fed just enough. The excess food will be utilized in adding weight. That extra weight is of no value unless the cow happens to be underweight or unless she happens to be preparing for a period when it will be necessary to draw upon a reserve. Over-feeding, therefore, leads to reduced profits.

Underfeeding also leads to reduced profits but from another cause. Self-preservation comes first always. That 50-60 division of food between what is needed to maintain the body and the amount that goes into the production of milk will not hold good when the cow is fed too little, for the simple reason that the body needs come first. When they are satisfied, then production starts. Take a cow weighing 1,000 pounds, that produces 3 gallons of 4 per cent. butterfat milk when fed normally. She will produce that same amount of milk if overfed but possibly only half that amount if underfed. The amount that goes for body maintenance remains the same in all three cases.

There are a number of general rules for feeding dairy cows. An old one is to feed Holsteins one pound of grain for every three pounds (pints) of milk produced. Jerseys are supposed to require one pound of grain to every four pounds of milk, with Guernseys in between.

Cows are just as individual in their eating as humans. You have to study each cow and feed according to her production. You must also study the combinations of food. Silage, legume hays and grains when fed to the dairy cow in the right proportions will produce milk at a profit. For every dollar spent in feed you should receive from two to three dollars in milk. Study your records, weed out the poor ones and buy new cows to replace them.

VULCAN GIRL WINS HATCHERY CONTEST

Prizes of Chicks from Highwood Hatchery Go to Vulcan and Nanton

In the letter competition instituted by the Highwood Hatchery, on the subject "How I would Raise 100 Chicks," about seventy entries were received from different parts of Southern Alberta.

The entries were turned over to Miss Tooker of the Tooker Poultry Farm, Okotoks, an authority on chicken raising. The identity of the writers was kept separate from the letters.

The Highwood Hatchery announces the winners as follows:

First, Lillian Olsen, Vulcan, 14 years old—wins 75 chicks.
Second, Murray Carmack, Nanton, 11 years old—wins 50 chicks.
Third, Melba Steen, Vulcan, 13 years old—wins 25 chicks.

The young prizewinners will now put into practice what they know about brooders, and it would be interesting to follow up their success.

The contest has been a healthy stimulation to youthful interest in poultry raising, and the Highwood Hatchery is to be commended for the generous prize offerings.

Below is Lillian Olsen's winning letter:

Vulcan, Alberta.
Highwood Hatchery
Aldersyde, Alberta.

Dear Sir:—
When your chicks arrive have your brooder house disinfected and thoroughly cleaned. Dry soil and short straw makes suitable litter. It should have one cotton window, as good ventilation is important, but avoid all drafts. Adjust the temperature at the edge of hover of coal-burning brooder to 98 degrees. There should be one square foot to every three chicks.

When your chicks arrive, feed them lukewarm water or sour milk. If you want healthy, lively chicks, keep the dishes and the house scrupulously clean. Dry chick starter, oyster shell, grit and charcoal should be before them all the time, as well as plenty of clean water in fountains and sour milk in crockery dishes.

Feed green feed after five days. When about two weeks, change gradually to growing mash. Weak chicks should be culled out.

If you carefully observe the actions and languages of your chicks you will succeed.

Local Merchant Accepts Wheat as Cash — War on High Prices Starts Saturday Morning

Local merchant announces a war on high prices; store closed on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday for appraisal and inventory. Buck and Howson, local merchants, making extensive preparations for a most aggressive merchandising campaign; carpenters are busy making display racks and sale tables, sign writers painting signs, banners and price tickets; sales manager, proprietor and extra staff re-pricing the entire stock.

The whole country for fifty miles square has been covered with large advertising circulards; Mr. Binning in charge made the statement to the representative of the Advocate that undoubtedly more people will be in Vulcan to this sale Saturday than have been here in years. Because prices are cut to the core in order to raise $10,000.00 in the shortest possible time; a most unusual offer at this sale is: wheat is being accepted as cash to the value of the customers purchase, and a premium of two cents a bushel above market price is paid for wheat.—ADVERTISEMENT.

The Kirkcaldy W.I. met at the home of Miss Cora Rhinehart on Thursday, April 23. Twelve members and two visitors were present. Mrs. Boose presided. The meeting opened with community singing followed by the creed. Minutes were read and adopted. The decision as to a delegate was held over till the next meeting. Miss Rhinehart was the speaker for the day. Her topic was Canadian Industries. Instead of mentioning all industries she just took three which were "The Salmon Industry," "The Mining Industry," and "The Persian Lamb Industry in Alberta." The meeting then adjourned. After a dainty lunch, all journeyed homeward. The next meeting will be held on May 14th.

HONORS FOR PIPER ROSS

A coast paper the following to say of the brother of J. B. Ross of Coutts formerly of the Imperial Hotel, Vulcan: Congratulations are in order toward Sergt.-Piper Gordon Ross on his being awarded the Long Service Medal. Sergt. Ross joined the regiment before the war when it was first organized, and has worn the tartan ever since. At the outbreak of war he volunteered with the draft from the Seafarths for service in the 16th Canadian Scottish, and went down to Valcartier with his bag-pipes under his arm. Throughout the war he was inseparable from the 16th, and when that grand day came when the Canadians marched over the River Rhine, Gordon Ross was to be found at the head of the column skirling blithely away on his pipes. Sergt. Ross' record of service is one of which he can well feel proud, and the "Canadian Seafarths" extends its heartiest congratulations and earnest hope that he will long continue to fill his most useful appointment with the pipe band.

NONE FOR PARTY ALL FOR STATE

The Canadian House of Commons is now in session and has been for several weeks and with what result, nothing but a gab feast with very little constructive result; the Government have been under criticism and rightly so, for their failure to redeem some of their pre-election pledges, yet the opposition have not offered one word or real constructive criticism wherein the present state of affairs might be remedied; this is not the time for such political manoeuvres and any statesman who will indulge in such should be placed in the same category as Nero, who sat and fiddled while Rome was consumed. The arguments, produced above are only the fringe of what might be stated in favor of getting down to business in Canada and can be considered with equal fervor in the realm of Provincial politics as well as in the wider field.

In conclusion the Dispatch can with reasonable assurance bespeak for Canada during these days of testing, a united weekly press, in an effort to create a new Canadian consciousness and stimulate what is an actual fact, that in Canada we have the greatest country under the sun to-day and the greatest heritage of which any people can boast.—Alamida Dispatch.

CALGARY POWER INCOMES INCREASE

The annual report of the Calgary Power Co., Ltd., for the year ending Dec. 31st, 1930, shows substantial development. Gross operating earnings show an increase of $326,586 over 1929 figures, while total income available for interest reserves and dividends amounted to $1,195,779.

There was offered to holders of common shares in April 1930, an additional 10,000 shares of common stock in the proportion of two shares for each five shares then held by them at $100 a share. This stock was fully subscribed.

VULCAN—TEN YEARS AGO

Interesting Facts Gleaned from Advocate Files of April, 24, 1921 by the "Cub Reporter"

Ratepayers Meeting—The provincial census taker recently made a visit to Vulcan, and found that the village of Vulcan had the required population to become a town. A vote was taken at the meeting and the village was incorporated as a town.

Many people called at the Bank of Commerce to look over the recently enlarged office, vault and staff apartments.

The Vulcan boy scouts under command of Scoutmaster Orton, had a night off from training to indulge in a baseball game and were entertained the remainder of the evening at the home of Mrs. King.

A very successful whist drive and dance was held in the L.O.O.F. hall last week under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary of the Church of England, where an enjoyable evening was spent.

VULCAN THEATRE REDUCES ADMISSION PRICES

The recent bargain week having met with such strong approval from the theatre-going public, the management has decided to reduce the admission prices commencing May 1st and continuing through until further notice.

With the exception of one or two special attractions at which the present prices will be charged, the future price policy of the Vulcan theatre will be—

Adults—evening, ... 35c, plus tax
Children—evening, ... 25c no tax
Adults—Matinee 25c no tax
Children—Matinee 15c no tax

These prices will in no wise effect the quality of pictures presented nor the entertainment value in any respect.

Many of the outstanding pictures of the year are to be presented at the local theatre in the next two months so that everyone is assured of the best in entertainment at prices they can afford to pay.

COUNTRY TOWN OF YOUNGER DAYS

Younger Folks Had Their Fun Because They Made It—A Happy Time

I have recently heard squabs and flappers tell their aged parents of forty-five or so, that the world did not know it was alive twenty-five years ago. Well, if the dead are one quarter as alive as the younger set of my youthful days, then there is not much danger of boredom in Heaven.

We made our own fun in those days or we had to go without. There was a dance in the hall over the hardware store, twice a week all winter, with pretty girls, good music, heaps of refreshments, and every presentable fellow was welcome, provided he wasn't drunk and could pay fifty cents. In summer there were boat parties, drives in the country, lawn tennis and croquet. Then there were garden parties, socials, corn huskings and uproarious barn dances. And I must not forget amateur theatricals. Our acting was probably atrocious and our audiences certainly critical, but did we have fun? We did, and who dare say we were not well employed.

Oh ye good old country town, where everybody knew everybody else's business. What glorious fist fights I have seen, what heart warming concerts, what rousing political meetings. How pleasant the streets on a moonlit June evening! How fine the sermons were in those old days, when ministers still preached hell fire and brimstone. How sweetly the band played "Nelly Gray" on those busy Saturday nights. If any one under eighty had a care he kept it to himself. But who ever heard of care in a country town of the old days. Certainly not the young, the healthy, the bloods and the maidens who were the "younger set" of twenty-five years ago.—C.F. Lloyd, the Canadian Bookman.
